OUR STORY

BOTANICAL GARDEN

The Botanic Gardens opened in 1829 with an epic three-day party and has been intimately entwined with the local area ever since.

The gardens have shaped our neighbourhood's horticultural and scientific life, and have been a source of culture and pleasure for almost two centuries.

With the city's centuries-old botanical garden at its heart, our neighbourhood has always known the importance of stopping to smell the roses. We believe that amidst the hustle of Brussels, it is important to take some time for yourself among its pockets of greenery. This neighbourhood is not only known for its greenness, but also its history, innovation, inspiration, and the creators of this city.

INSPIRED BY OUR NEIGHBOURHOOD

The flourishing green facade of Hotel Indigo Brussels - City stands in lovely contrast to the sea of glass and steel office buildings that have sprouted up around the bustling Place Charles Rogier. We're located in the heart of Brussels, connected by all means of transport, and close to the business district, best bars and major tourist areas.
