THESSALONIKI

Thessaloniki

*T*hessaloniki is the largest urban center in Northern Greece, built in amphitheater around the Thermaikos Gulf & its wide sea horizon stops at the imposing bulk of Mount Olympus.

The city was founded in 315 b.C. by Cassander in honor of his wife Thessaloniki, sister of Alexander the Great.

Today, amid the recent international developments, Thessaloniki acquires multiple economic, social & cultural relations with the wider area.

The modern face of Thessaloniki coexists harmoniously with its numerous historical sites –from archaeological sites to imposing Byzantine monuments– always retaining a warm, vibrant, human profil.

Kapani or Agora Vlali

Thessaloniki's traditional markets

[BEZESTENI]

The Bezesteni with its 6 domes stands since the 15th century at the intersection of Venizelou & Solomou str. in Thessaloniki.

It was functioning as a fabric market (after all Bezesten means fabric) but today it houses mostly small haberdashery shops & jewelries.

[LOULOUADAIKA-YAHOUDI HAMAM]

These are the 6 remaining flower shops in the area among Komnion, Vasileos Irakleiou & Fraggini str.

Initially they were shacks stuck on Yahoudi Hamam & 10 years ago they were slightly moved in order to get their current position.

[BIT-BAZAAR]

Bit Bazaar is situated in the small refugee market among Venizelou, Tositsa & Olympou str. In the morning people are wandering in a world of antique shops & in front of benches with numerous small objects, while in the evening they are gathering in tavernas & bars, that have opened in recent years.

[KAPANI OR AGORA VLALI]

The oldest market in Thessaloniki! A flour market during Turkish times (Un Kapan), situated near Aristotelous Square (between Egnatia & Komnion str.). On its benches one can find fruits, vegetables, meat, fish, spices & pulses.

[MODIANO]

The "Modiano" marketplace is known throughout Europe. It was built by the Jewish engineer Eli Modiano in 1922. It is a rectangular building with a glass roof, between Ermou & Vasileos Irakleiou str., which houses the largest food market in Thessaloniki

[PLATEIA ATHONOS]

In the small streets of this place (also called Karekladika or Xyladika) among taverns one can find shops selling chairs & wicker baskets.

[LADADIKA]

It used to be a commercial area, specialized in oil supplies. (the area owes its name to those oil stores) The catastrophic fire of 1917 fortunately did not harm the area but after a few years all shops moved away. The area was abandoned for many years & some 20 years ago it was remodeled. Many restaurants, tavernas & bars gave life to the area & changed its profile entirely.
