FOOD AND BEVERAGE CHOICES

Fairmont Peace Hotel's six dining and entertainment venues are where heritage and haute blend to reflect the new spirit of Shanghai. The legendary Jazz Bar is the oldest live music venue in Shanghai, where guests have been entertained by a live band since the golden era of jazz in the 1930s. To this day, there is nightly live Jazz from the oldest Jazz Band in the world. Occupying the hotel's original dining quarters, the Cathay Room and its ninth-floor terrace offer inspired European cuisine and Sunday Brunch. Chinese dishes are served at the exotically decorated Dragon Phoenix Chinese restaurant. Refined selections of exquisite tea and coffee, especially the legendary tea dance every Saturday afternoon, tempt you in the Jasmine Lounge; while the mezzanine-level wine and cigar bar Cin Cin is a sophisticated retreat for sipping premium wines and enjoying imported cigars; Victor's is an Art Deco delicatessen offering an international café menu and showcasing the finest handcrafted pastries and artisanal breads.

MEETING AND EVENT SERVICES

Whether it is a product launch or a private executive retreat, our meeting and event facilities offer the utmost in character and style. The Peace Hall is adorned with Art Deco detailing, Lalique glass chandeliers and a 6.5-metre-high ceiling. Its original sprung white maple dance floor has been returned to a high polish. It is a stunning venue for banquets and receptions for up to 300 people. Sharing the eighth floor with the Peace Hall are three multi-functional, classically styled salons for more intimate soirees. Originally secluded for Victor Sassoon's private wining-and-dining, Nine Heaven on the 11th floor embraces sweeping views across the stunning skyline of Pudong and the magnificence of the Huangpu River, while the England and Scotland Rooms - two of the most exclusive private dining venues in the city - nestle discreetly on the rooftop of the building. The Roof Terrace is the ideal area for exclusive occasions from creative events to corporate launches. Located on the mezzanine level are the function rooms Chun Shen and Thames. The 215- and 110-square-meter meeting spaces are flooded with natural light, offer a compelling view of The Bund and the skyline of Pudong, and have been immaculately designed to complement the Art Deco style of the hotel.
